

ENTERPRISE APPLICATION INTEGRATION METHODOLOGY

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for integrating business functions performed by different application systems comprising generating a business model, based upon said application systems, generating a logical model, based upon said business model, generating a physical model, based upon said logical model, designing an infrastructure, based upon said physical model, assembling the infrastructure, testing the infrastructure, and implementing the infrastructure.